

Biodata

Prof. (Dr.) Prabhakaran Hebbar Illath

Prof. (Dr.) Prabhakaran Hebbar Illath is a Professor in the Department of Hindi at the University of Calicut, Kerala. He holds a Ph.D in Hindi Language and Literature and has made significant contributions to teaching, research and academic leadership.

With an extensive academic portfolio, he has authored around 30 books and published more than 125 research papers in reputed Journals. He has successfully completed five major research projects, including those funded by the University Grants Commission (UGC), Government of India, and has been awarded a post-doctoral fellowship by the department of Higher Education, Govt. of Kerala.

He is the recipient of several prestigious National awards, including honours from the Central Hindi Directorate (New Delhi), the Kamala Goenka Foundation (Mumbai) for translation and the Kerala Hindi Sahitya Academy (Tiruvananthapuram) for his doctoral thesis .

In addition to his specialization in Hindi, he holds MA degrees in English Language and Literature, M A Degrees Linguistics and MA Degree Translation Studies, along with postgraduate Diplomas in Translation and Secretarial Practice in Hindi and Natural Language Processing.

Mob: 9446661250

Email: drhebbarillath@gmail.com
